

Limits and Boundaries

While at camp all leaders are expected to set a Christian example for the campers. Campers are to be under adult supervision at all times and occasionally the leader or service provider may have to step into a developing situation to diffuse things. This is the responsibility of each leader at camp. However, the ability to discipline the camper is the responsibility of the Camp Director or a person designated by him/her, who will decide the appropriate discipline and whether the parents need to be involved. The only exception to this would be on the waterfront where the Lifeguard is in charge and may remove water privileges (but never further discipline) as will be discussed in detail during the Leadership training Program prior to camp.
